Fairview is located at 4410 Church Road, near Mitchelville, in Prince George's County, MD. The property, including the main residence, a barn, a milk house, and a cemetery, is considered eligible for listing on the National Register, ~~under Criterion A~~

The main residence at Fairview is a stately Federal dwelling, built ca. 1800 by a Baruch Duckett. Duckett willed the property to his son-in-law, William Bowie, whose descendants retained ownership and occupied the residence until at least 1978 (at the time that the MHT form was prepared). Oden Bowie (1826-1894) was a lieutenant in the Mexican War, served in the Maryland State Legislature, and was elected Governor of Maryland, 1869-1872. Bowie was instrumental in the construction of the Pope's Creek Railroad through this part of PG County, and made Fairview stables an important name in the history of American horseracing.

The dwelling is a two-story, five-bay, central-passage building constructed of brick and clad with stucco. The house is covered with a gable roof, with stepped parapet end walls on either side of paired end chimneys. A single-story porch extends across both the front and rear elevations of the dwelling. A brick milkhouse with a gable roof, ca. 1800, is located behind the house and features diamond-shaped "sweeteners." A large frame stable, raised upon a brick foundation, is adjacent to the house and appears also to date from the early 19th century. The principal posts are mortised, tenoned, and pegged into the plates, and rails are mortised and tenoned into the posts. The rafters are half-lapped and pegged at the ridge. The ground floor is a stable and the upper floor is a corncrib, threshing floor and storage space. A cemetery is located about 200 yards east of the house.

Fairview is eligible for listing on the National Register under Criteria A, B, and C. The property is significant under Criterion C as an illustration of Federal architecture; under Criterion B as the home of Oden Bowie, an important personality at the state level; and under Criterion A as the site of a race horse breeding farm.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: Project Review and Compliance

PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY
HISTORIC SITES SUMMARY SHEET

P.G. County Survey # 71A-13 Date ca. 1800
Building Name Fairview
Location 4410 Church Road, Mitchellville, Md.
Open to Public yes x no

Fairview is a stuccoed brick house, two stories high, five bays wide, with centered entrances on both south and north facades. Two flush chimneys stand at each gable end, and the east gable is stepped. A brick and frame wing extends west from the main house, incorporating an earlier kitchen which has a chimney on the north wall.

Baruch Duckett had Fairview built circa 1800 on part of Darnall's Grove. He willed it to his son-in-law, William Bowie, whose descendants have lived there to the present time. His grandson, Oden Bowie (1826-1894) was a lieutenant in the Mexican War, served in the Maryland State legislature, and was elected Governor of Maryland, 1869-72. He was instrumental in the construction of the Pope's Creek Railroad through this part of Prince George's County, and made Fairview stables an important name in the history of American horseracing.

An unusual early 19th century brick barn stands just to the southeast of the house, a hill barn, with brick piers on the south side, and with east and west gable ends laid up in common bond.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Fairview is a stuccoed brick house, two storys high, five bays wide with centered entrances at front and rear. The main entrance has a double doorway with a fanlight above, within an arched frame. The flanking windows are 6/6 double hung sash. One story, five bay porches with square, chamfered posts supporting a full entablature are at the south and north sides of the house. There are two flush chimneys joined by an apron at each gable end. The east gable is stepped. A brick and frame wing extends west from the main part of the house. This addition incorporates an earlier kitchen which has a chimney on the north sidewall and windows opposite.

Near the north entrance of the house there is a brick milk house that appears to be the same age as the mansion. It has an A-roof with weatherboarded gable ends. The cornice consists of two courses of projecting bricks. Diamond-shaped motifs of open work flank the doorway and are found on the gable ends.

There is a large frame barn on a tall brick foundation. The principal posts are mortised, tenoned, and pegged into the plates, and rails are mortised and tenoned into posts. The rafters are half-lapped and pegged at the ridge. The cornice is boxed. Sheathing is partly vertical boarding, partly board and batten and partly horizontal weatherboarding. The ground floor is a stable and the upper floor a corncrib, threshing floor, and storage.

The cemetery is east of the house. A grove of large, old oak trees surrounds the house. The south lawn is terraced from the house to the level of the fields.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The house is a two story, brick building now covered with stucco. The main (south) facade is five bays with a central double doorway with a fanlight above, all within an arched frame. The flanking windows are 6/6 double hung sash with a narrow moulded surround. Across the front is a five bay porch with square, chamfered posts supporting a full entablature. The roof cornice is boxed, with a dentillated bead moulding and a crown moulding. The gables are stepped, with double flush gable chimneys joined by an apron. On the east end, there is a three part semi-circular window between the stacks at the attic level.

On the west end there is an addition that incorporates an earlier kitchen. The kitchen has a chimney on the north sidewall and windows opposite. The fireplace has a large opening with a wooden lintel. The floor is brick. Doors are vertical boards with chamfered rails.

North of the house is a brick smokehouse. It has an A-roof with weatherboarded gable ends. The cornice is two courses of projecting bricks. Diamond-shaped motifs of open work flank the doorway; there are three motifs on the gable ends.

There is a large frame barn on a tall brick foundation. The principal posts are mortised, tenoned, and pegged into the plates, and rails are mortised, tenoned into posts. The rafters are half-lapped and pegged at the ridge. The cornice is boxed. Sheathing is partly vertical boarding, partly board and batten and partly horizontal weatherboarding.

The ground floor is a stable and the upper floor a corncrib, threshing floor, and storage.
